English Literature has long been acknowledged as a highly valuable and prestigious A Level. It still ranks today as one of the top subjects to study in preparation for University and is formally listed as a Facilitating Subject for Russell Group Universities.

English Literature is perennially popular as a subject for A Level study as it is an excellent companion subject for History, Law and many other A Level subjects which require analysis of texts and data sources in order to create arguments and present interpretations supported by evidence. It is also a great subject to do just because you love it and love reading quality literature.

Subject: Film Studies (Subject to confirmation)

Awarding body: WJEC.EDUQAS

Course level: 3

Category: A Level

Qualification size: 1 A Level

Entry requirements; • Grade 6 or above in English Language and Literature. Grade 4 or above in Maths. Grade 6 or above in Media CGSE if taken.

Film Studies teaches people analytical skills and teaches people how to 'read' films, allowing them to understand how filmmakers can influence audiences.

For people wanting to work in the media, or in film, this subject is a real asset, teaching them about the skills needed to make and analyse film, as well as how the film industry works.
