Reviewed	July 2016	Consulted and agreed with: Ormiston Academies Trust, ASCL, ATL, GMB, NAHT, NASUWT, NUT, Unison and Unite
Next review date	July 2019
Author	HR OAT
Adoption of this policy	Academies transferring to OAT after 1 September 2014	To adopt this policy under the terms of the TUPE transfer and are only required to inform staff of any changes agreed with unions at National level.
	Academies that transferred before Sept 2014	Can chose to consult locally and adopt. In these situations the Principal should issue the policy to all staff and academy representatives for consultation over a calendar month. The district union offices should be copied in. Once adopted any further changes consulted with the JCC will follow the process of informing not consulting.

1.0 Introduction

- 1.1 The purpose of this policy and procedure is to encourage and support all employees working in academies to achieve and maintain acceptable standards of conduct and behaviour.
- 1.2 This procedure has been adopted by the Governing Body of Ormiston SWB Academy on July 2017 following consultation with the teachers' associations and support staff trade unions.
- 1.3 The HR Department will review this policy in line with the schedule and assess its implementation and effectiveness, including monitoring against protected characteristics in the Equality Act

2.0 Principles

- 2.1 In following this procedure academies are seeking to address issues relating to conduct or behaviour.
- 2.2 It is essential that staff within academies is aware of the high standards of conduct expected of them. Individual staff members should also be mindful of the standards of their own professions as well as relevant national guidance.
- 2.3 All employees have a personal responsibility to maintain appropriate standards of professional conduct.
- 2.4 All employees should be treated fairly, reasonably and consistently under this policy.
- 2.5 Where disciplinary action is being considered employees should be encouraged to consult with their trade union or professional association.
- 2.6 No hearing or committee meeting will be arranged to consider disciplinary action against a trade union lay official until the complaint(s) has been discussed with a full-time official (or the Regional Officer if the complaint involves the City Secretary).
- 2.7 Action taken under this policy must be prompt; it is important to recognise that matters left unaddressed may escalate, potentially resulting in a need for more serious disciplinary action.
- 2.8 It is important that disciplinary investigations and hearings are conducted in a fair, transparent and consistent manner.
- 2.9 Employees will have the right to be accompanied to formal disciplinary hearings by a trade union representative or work colleague.

Employees do not have the right to be accompanied by a lawyer at formal disciplinary hearings.

In certain limited cases however the employee may be entitled to be represented by a lawyer at a disciplinary hearing. This is where, as a result of the proceedings, the employee is effectively at risk of being barred from working in their chosen profession. This will be at the discretion of the employer and in all such cases advice may be sought in advance from OAT HR.
- 2.10 Principals should be aware that informal action may often be a more satisfactory method of resolving problems than formal disciplinary action.
- 2.11 An employee has the right of appeal against any disciplinary sanction imposed on them.

2.12 Principals, governors, and OAT HR, have a duty to safeguard confidentiality as far as is possible when dealing with issues of conduct.

3.0 Scope of Procedure

3.1 The procedure applies to all employees working within academies (these staff will hereon be referred to as 'employees').

3.2 This procedure is intended to deal with issues of conduct and behaviour by employees working in academies. It will not apply in circumstances where there is a failure to meet the standards of the post due to lack of capability; in these circumstances, the relevant capability procedure may be more appropriate. If an employee's general lack of performance is due to health reasons or absence the Attendance Policy may be more appropriate.

4.0 Informal Action

4.1 A Principal may address minor disciplinary issues through informal action, where a full formal disciplinary hearing is not considered necessary, informal action does not constitute disciplinary action under this policy. Informal action is an effective means of addressing minor disciplinary offences or misdemeanours. The bullet points below are intended as guidance only for Principals when adopting an informal approach to matters of misconduct:

- Gather the facts and summarise these in a document.
- Discuss the matter with the employee in an informal one-to-one meeting, ensuring the employee has the opportunity to respond and give their version of events. The aim of this discussion is to encourage the employee to resolve any perceived problem(s): it is very important that this discussion does not turn into a disciplinary interview or hearing.
- Ensure that the required standards of conduct are made clear to the employee, and they are offered appropriate support and advice to help them achieve these.
- Make the employee aware that the matter is being dealt with informally at this stage, but that failure to address any perceived conduct problem(s) may result in formal disciplinary action.
- Keep a record of the discussion and agreed action points on the employee's personal file, to maintain a record of the employee's history.
- A letter should be sent to the employee summarising the discussion and agreed actions.
- If an employee wishes to be accompanied at an informal disciplinary discussion, by a work colleague or union representative, this request should not normally be refused.

5.0 Investigations/charges by external agencies

5.1 Where an employee is subject to an allegation being investigated by an external body they should be encouraged to consult their professional association/trade union for support.

5.2 If an employee is either charged or under investigation by an external statutory body, e.g. Police, Social Care, etc., it may be necessary for them to be suspended from duty. Please refer to Section 7 – Suspension.

5.3 If the allegations involve Child Protection issues advice should be sought immediately from the Local Authority Designated Officer (LADO). No attempt should be made to investigate Child Protection allegations without seeking advice from the LADO, OAT HR will provide support in these cases if requested to do so.

- 5.4 If an employee is imprisoned this may render them unable to fulfil their contract of employment for a period of time, requiring consideration to be given to whether the contract of employment should be terminated. You may wish to seek advice from OAT HR in these cases.
- 5.5 Upon conclusion of an external investigation it may be necessary for an internal disciplinary investigation to take place. The outcome of which may or may not result in further formal action being taken by the academy
- 5.6 There is no requirement to wait until a case is heard by the external body before a formal disciplinary meeting can take place. What is important is that:
- There has been an attempt to investigate the allegations as fully as possible in the circumstances.
 - There is reasonable evidence that the allegations are probably true, based on the findings of the investigation.
 - The allegations justify any action under consideration (e.g. that they constitute gross misconduct if the employee is faced with dismissal without previously having received a final written warning).
 - Confirmation to proceed has been sought through HR

6.0 Complaints regarding conduct outside work

If a complaint is made regarding an employee's conduct outside of the academy, and/or if issues of concern come to light following an application for a Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) disclosure report, consideration must be given to whether the alleged conduct would affect the suitability of the employee to continue working in the academy, and to fulfil the contract of employment. This requires individual consideration in each case. It also may be appropriate to consult with the Police/LADO for advice/guidance. If the alleged conduct would affect the employee's suitability, suspension would allow time for further investigation to determine if there is a disciplinary case to answer (see Section 7).

7.0 Suspension

- 7.1 When a Principal is considering suspending an employee advice should be sought from OAT HR.
- 7.2 An employee may be suspended from duty if it is reasonably believed that their continued presence in the workplace may either:
- Interfere with the disciplinary investigation.
 - Present a risk of the employee committing further disciplinary offences.
 - Present a risk to the health, safety and security of pupils, staff, parents/carers, and academy resources and/or property.

The Principal is empowered to suspend an employee from duty in the above circumstances, but care must be taken to ensure only those who truly represent a risk by continuing to attend work are suspended

- In the case of the Principal's absence, a formally nominated member of the Senior Leadership Team may suspend in the above circumstances.
 - The same suspending manager is the only person that can lift the suspension
- 7.3 Suspension does not prejudice the outcome of any disciplinary process that may follow.

- 7.4 During suspension, the employee will continue to receive their ordinary pay. For the purposes of this policy ordinary pay is the standard contractual pay the employee would have received from the academy if they were still working.
- 7.5 If the allegation against the staff member is one involving Child Protection issues advice should be sought immediately from the Local Authority Designated Officer (LADO). No attempt should be made to investigate Child Protection allegations without seeking advice from the Local Authority Designated Officer and if appropriate OAT HR.
- It must be recognised that being suspended can give rise to great anxiety in an employee and potentially also in the investigating officer. The employee should be encouraged to consult with their professional association/trade union for support, as well as being offered support from counselling services and other services as appropriate. This may include a referral to the Occupational Health service. The investigating officer may wish to seek support through OAT HR.
- 7.6 The employee will have the right to have a trade union/professional association representative or work colleague present to witness the suspension. The meeting to suspend must not involve questioning of the employee; this must take place in an investigatory interview, as part of a disciplinary investigation. In the event that an employee's trade union/professional association is unable to provide representation this must not delay the suspension, and the employee must be advised of their options, being either to be accompanied by a work colleague or choose another representative.
- 7.7 Suspension will be confirmed in writing within three working days of the suspension meeting. Guidance on what should be included in the confirmation of suspension letter can be seen in Appendix 5.
- 7.8 The employee should be provided with a named contact to direct any queries towards during their suspension. It is good practice to keep in touch with a suspended employee, e.g. to keep them informed as to the progress of the investigation.
- 7.9 If an employee is charged or under investigation by the police or another statutory body consideration must be given as to whether the alleged offence would affect the suitability of the employee to continue to fulfil their contract of employment in the Academy. Suspension may be appropriate if the allegation would seriously undermine the employee's suitability for their employment.
- 7.10 If suspension results from investigations by an external body (which may or may not relate to actions at work), it is important to maintain contact with the investigating officers.
- 7.11 Where an employee is in police custody this may, in some circumstances, be treated as unauthorised absence, and may therefore result in pay being withheld. Individual circumstances must be taken into consideration in each case.
- 7.12 Suspension will be kept under regular review by the Principal and if at any point during the investigation it becomes clear that a return to work would not jeopardise the investigation, pose any risk to the pupils, staff, Academy or present no risk of further offences being committed, the suspension should be lifted by the suspending Manager. In cases where the employee is supported by a trade union representative it is good practice to keep the trade union representative informed of progress regarding the period of suspension.

- 7.13 Suspension should be for as short a period as possible. If it is agreed that the employee should return to work following the suspension careful planning is necessary to ensure this is managed as sensitively as possible.
- 8.0 Investigation
- 8.1 Investigations are necessary to establish the facts allowing Principals to determine if there is a disciplinary case to answer. When Principals feel a disciplinary investigation is necessary they may wish to contact OAT HR for support.
- 8.2 A trained/experienced Investigating Officer must be appointed by the Principal (where allegations involve the Principal an Investigating Officer will be appointed by OAT).
- 8.3 The Investigating Officer must be free from prejudice and able to establish and report the facts in an objective manner. The investigating officer will promptly carry out a full and thorough investigation into the allegations as the circumstances will allow. Care will be taken to ensure that where appropriate evidence is also sought from employees who may be supportive of the employee's case. This will involve the gathering of all relevant evidence from the relevant parties and an investigation meeting with the employee. The investigation should be thorough, comprehensive and unbiased. The role of the investigating officer is to gather evidence and recommend whether:
- a. there is no further action required;
 - b. management guidance is appropriate;
 - c. training is needed; or
 - d. The case should be referred to a hearing.
- 8.4 Where the employee's continued presence in the workplace is reasonably believed to pose a risk of interference with the investigation suspension may be necessary. In these cases, please refer to 'Section 7 – Suspension' within this procedure.
- 8.5 Any employee required to be interviewed as part of the disciplinary investigation should be advised of the date, time and location of the interview in writing in advance of the interview, allowing them reasonable time to prepare. They should also be advised that the interview is being conducted under this policy, and either be signposted to, or sent directly, a copy of this policy. An employee may wish to be accompanied to a disciplinary investigatory interview by a colleague or representative of their trade union/professional association; this request should not normally be refused.
- 8.6 The employee alleged to have committed a disciplinary offence must be advised of the nature of the allegation in writing in advance of the investigatory interview. The employee against whom allegations are made should be interviewed at an early stage in the investigation wherever appropriate. It may be necessary to interview them again at a later stage should additional information come to light during the investigation. The employee should be sent a copy of this policy at the earliest opportunity, and encouraged to contact their union representative for support.
- 8.7 The employee alleged to have committed a disciplinary offence should be given the opportunity to advise the Investigating Officer if there are witnesses they feel should be interviewed as part of the investigation, or other evidence they feel should be gathered.

- 8.8 Investigations should be conducted within a reasonable time period. Where an employee is suspended pending the outcome of the investigation it should be completed in no longer than four weeks, wherever possible. If the investigation is likely to take longer than four weeks this must be reported to the employee.
- 8.9 Where appropriate to the disciplinary investigation it is reasonable to refer to bodies external to the academy for evidence, e.g. OAT Finance Department when investigating allegations of financial irregularity.
- 8.10 There are specific procedures and guidelines for investigating particular types of allegations, e.g. Child Protection. Where an allegation raises concerns regarding Child Protection no attempt should be made to investigate the allegation without reference to the Local Authority Designated Officer. Relevant national guidance must also be adhered to.
- 9.0 Disciplinary hearings
- 9.1 Upon the conclusion of the investigation a decision must be taken by the appointed Investigating Officer, as to whether there is a case to answer. The formal report should be provided to the Commissioning Manager who will make the decision as to the appropriate action. Consideration will be given to taking no action, informal action, or formal action. Advice is available from OAT HR if necessary.
- 9.2 A Principal may address minor disciplinary issues through informal action, where a full formal disciplinary hearing is not considered necessary (see Section 4 – Informal Action). Informal action does not constitute disciplinary action under this policy.
- 9.3 No formal disciplinary action can be taken unless an appropriately authorised person/committee has conducted a disciplinary hearing. The recommended procedure for a disciplinary hearing can be seen in Appendix 1.
- 9.4 The employee will be given a minimum of ten working days written notice of the hearing, in order to prepare for the hearing and arrange representation. Copies of documents to be presented at the hearing, together with details of any witnesses to be called, should be sent to the employee at least 5 working days in advance of the hearing, ensuring they have reasonable time to prepare a response. Guidance on what to include in the invitation to a disciplinary hearing can be found in Appendix 5.
- 9.5 For hearings involving allegations of any misconduct the person/committee conducting the hearing must have had no involvement in the whole case.
- 9.6 If it is known in advance that the employee will be represented, that representative should be consulted about a mutually convenient date for the hearing. It is important for all parties that the disciplinary hearing takes place in a timely fashion, however, the timing of the hearing may be adjusted within reasonable limits to allow the employee's representative to be present with the aim of ensuring the employee is represented where possible.

- 9.7 The employee (or his/her representative) and the Investigating Officer may call witnesses and introduce documents in support of their response to the allegations, subject to notifying the person conducting the hearing of names of witnesses and supplying them with copies of documents at least 2 days in advance of the meeting.
- 9.8 The person conducting the hearing should ensure that arrangements are made for any of the following to be present:
- A member of OAT HR to act as adviser, if appropriate.
 - The Principal/investigating officer to make a formal presentation of the complaint against the employee.
 - Any other employee(s) of the academy being called as witnesses.
 - Any other supporting documentation to be presented as evidence.
- 9.9 The recommended procedure for a disciplinary hearing can be seen in Appendix I. The recommended procedure is intended to allow all factors considered relevant to be given due consideration. It may be varied by mutual consent of the parties to meet the individual case.
- 9.10 Witnesses should only be present whilst giving their information and being questioned on it. A person assisting in presenting a case may be present throughout the presentation of evidence. It is not appropriate for witnesses to present the case.
- 9.11 When the person/committee conducting the hearing has heard all the evidence submitted, all others present will withdraw from the hearing, except any specialist HR adviser present. The person/committee will then consider their decision and what action or appropriate sanction is necessary. Should it be necessary to ask further questions of anyone present during the hearing, all those attending (except witnesses) must be present. This is to ensure that no evidence is given unless the other party has the opportunity to respond and present a view on it.
- 9.12 After due consideration, the person conducting the hearing will convey the decision to the employee. Normally the decision will be given verbally as soon as it has been taken and any formal disciplinary warning will be given at the same time. The decision and any formal disciplinary warning will be confirmed in writing within five working days. Exceptionally, the decision may be deferred and given in writing later, together with any formal disciplinary warning. The letter confirming, or giving, a formal warning will set out the rights of appeal
- 9.13 If the Panel decides there has been no unacceptable conduct, they will call the employee back to inform them that there is no case to answer and that all records of the process will be removed from the file after 20 working days.
- 9.14 If, following 9.12 above, the panel consider that unacceptable conduct has taken place, they will call the employee and their representative back into the room to let them know and to ask if there is any mitigation.
- 9.15 Following the process at 9.14 and before deciding what disciplinary sanction to impose, if any, the Principal/panel should, in addition to considering any mitigation, consider whether the employee has been subject to any previous live and linked disciplinary action. The decision of the Panel will take into account reasonableness, natural justice and will be based on the advice of HR.

- 9.16 In academies, it is appropriate to involve the Governing Body in the administering of sanctions if the Principal has personally investigated a complaint, or where the allegations are made by a third party outside the academy.
- 10.0 Levels of disciplinary action
- 10.1 No formal disciplinary action can be taken unless an appropriately authorised person/committee has conducted a disciplinary hearing. The levels of disciplinary action which may be taken are, in increasing order of seriousness:
- Formal verbal warning.
 - A formal written warning.
 - A final formal written warning.
 - Dismissal with notice or Summary Dismissal.
- A table summarising the levels of sanction with details of warning durations etc. can be seen in Appendix 4.
- 10.2 The level of action taken will depend on the seriousness of the misconduct, any mitigating factors, and the circumstances in which the misconduct occurred (please refer to Appendices 2 and 3 for examples of misconduct and gross misconduct). Where an employee has previously been the subject of disciplinary action and subsequently commits a further breach of discipline whilst the warning is still in force, the normal response will be to progress to the next more serious level of action.
- 10.3 Formal verbal warnings
- 10.3.1 Formal verbal warnings can be issued by the Principal following a formal disciplinary hearing. If the Principal is absent, or likely to be absent, for one week or more, then formal verbal warnings may be issued by either a formally nominated member of the Senior Leadership team, or by a member of the Governing Body (normally the Chair or Vice Chair).
- 10.3.2 A formal verbal warning would normally be issued for a minor offence, or repeated misdemeanours, e.g. lateness. The employee should be advised of the circumstances surrounding the alleged misconduct and be given the opportunity to respond to the allegation in the hearing.
- 10.3.3 Where, after hearing the employee's response, the person giving the warning reasonably believes that the employee's behaviour or conduct was not acceptable, this should be made clear and he/she should be advised of the standard of behaviour expected in future and of the possible consequences of further misconduct.
- 10.3.4 If a formal verbal warning is issued, a letter should be sent to the employee confirming this, and confirming the right of appeal. A copy of the letter should also be placed on the employee's personal file, to maintain a record of the employee's history. Guidance on what should be included in this letter can be seen in Appendix 5.
- 10.4 Formal written warnings/final formal written warning
- 10.4.1 Formal written warnings/final formal written warnings can be issued for more serious offences, or repeated/subsequent minor offences.

- 10.4.2 Formal written warnings/ Formal final written warnings can be issued by the Principal following a formal disciplinary hearing. If the Principal is absent, or likely to be absent, for one week or more, then formal written warnings may be issued by a member of the Governing Body.
- 10.4.3 When being issued with a formal written warning or final formal written warning the employee should be advised of the standard of behaviour expected in future, and of the possible consequences of failing maintain this standard.
- 10.4.4 A letter should be sent to the employee confirming the warning issued and briefly summarising the reasons why, and confirming the right of appeal. A copy of this letter should be placed on the employee's personal file, to maintain a record of the employee's history.
- 10.5 Duration of warnings
- 10.5.1 Subject to paragraph 10.5.2 formal verbal warnings will lapse automatically after six months, formal written warnings will lapse automatically after twelve months, and final formal written warnings will lapse automatically after 18 months.
- 10.5.2 Warnings will not lapse if there has been a further warning issued whilst the original warning was still in force. In these cases, the warning will remain in force for as long as the subsequent warning. Warnings may also be extended if the warning related to matters of Health and Safety, or Child Protection. In these cases, it is advisable to seek advice from OAT HR.
- 10.6 Dismissal
- 10.6.1 In circumstances where conduct does not improve to the required level following previous warnings, or an offence is so serious as to be regarded as gross misconduct, this may result in dismissal. (for examples please refer to Appendix 3),
- 10.6.2 These hearings must be conducted by a committee of three, one of which can be the Principal providing they have not been involved in the disciplinary process.
- 10.6.3 Where dismissal is a result of an accumulation of warnings, this will normally be with notice.
- 10.6.4 Where dismissal is as a consequence of gross misconduct, this will normally result in summary dismissal (without notice).
- 10.6.5 The decision of the hearing should be confirmed in writing with the right of appeal. The letter must contain a written statement of reasons for dismissal, and must be sent within ten working days of the meeting.
- 10.6.6 In certain cases, it is required to notify other agencies, e.g. Department for Education, DBS of dismissal, or other serious action. OAT HR can provide advice on these situations.
- 11.0 Appeal
- 11.1 An employee has the right of appeal against any formal disciplinary action. Appeals must be in writing to the Principal, clearly stating the grounds for appeal together with details of any new evidence/witnesses they wish to present, and must be received by the Principal within ten working days of receipt of the written notification of disciplinary action.

- 11.2 Appeals will be heard by Governors' Appeals Committee.
- 11.3 Additional information which comes to light between the first hearing and the appeal hearing may be taken into consideration at the appeal hearing.
- 11.4 The outcome of the appeal is final.
- 12.0 Special circumstances
- 12.1 No hearing or committee meeting will be arranged to consider disciplinary action against a trade union lay official until the complaint(s) have been discussed with a senior representative and where possible a full-time official (or the Regional Officer).
- 12.2 If an employee declines to attend any meeting arranged under this procedure the meeting may proceed in his/her absence, at the discretion of the person or committee conducting the meeting. Every effort must be made to contact the employee before proceeding in their absence.
- 12.3 Where an employee, or their union representative, is prevented from attending (e.g. through illness or being in custody), consideration should be given to a short delay in order for him/her to be present. The hearing may proceed despite the employee themselves being absent, for example if the employee's representative is in attendance. Where possible the hearing should take place with the employee present.

Guidance on disciplinary letter writing

The following is intended as guidance only. More detailed advice, including templates for letters, can be obtained through OAT HR.

Letter to confirm suspension

The suspension confirmation letter should contain;

- An indication of the likely duration of the suspension.
- A brief summary of the allegation(s).
- Advise the employee that suspension carries no presumption of guilt and does not prejudice the outcome of the disciplinary investigation.
- Arrangements for the disciplinary interview, or an indication of when this may take place if no arrangements have been made. For example, if other witnesses need to be interviewed or evidence needs to be considered before an interview can take place).
- Conditions of the suspension, for example not entering Academy premises or contacting witnesses.
- Confirmation that employees will continue to receive ordinary pay whilst suspended.
- Details of who the employee should use as a contact during their suspension.
- Encourage the employee to contact their trade union/professional association for support.
- Details of the staff counselling service and for teachers the Teacher Support Network.

Invite to an investigatory interview

The invite letter should contain:

- The name of the Investigating Officer and any other officer(s) that will be present.
- The time and place of the interview.
- Confirmation that the interview will take place under this procedure.
- A brief description of the allegations under investigation (including dates wherever possible).
- Ask the employee under investigation if there are any witnesses he/she wishes to be interviewed as part of the investigation, or if there is other evidence they feel should be gathered.
- The employee should be informed as to the potential seriousness of the allegation under investigation, particularly if the allegation, if substantiated, could constitute gross misconduct.

Invite to disciplinary hearing

The letter inviting the employee to the disciplinary hearing should include:

- The name of the person/committee who will conduct the hearing.
- The time and place of the hearing.
- Confirmation that the hearing is convened under the disciplinary procedure.
- A description of the alleged misconduct (including dates wherever possible).
- The names of any witnesses to be called and/or copies of any documents to be presented in support of the case.
- Advise that the employee may be accompanied at the hearing by a trade union/professional association representative or work colleague.
- Advise the employee that they may submit documents and/or ask any other person to be present as a witness in support of his/her response (these should be submitted a reasonable time in advance of the hearing).
- Advise the employee as to the potential seriousness of the alleged misconduct and the potential outcome of the hearing. If dismissal is a potential outcome this must be clearly stated in the letter.

The above guidance can also be used to confirm appeal hearings. The below should also be included;

- Confirmation of receipt of written request for appeal.
- Confirmation of receipt of grounds for appeal, including witnesses the appellant wishes to be called.

- That the hearing may be either a re-hearing or a review, dependent on the nature of the grounds for appeal.

Formal verbal warnings

Formal verbal warnings should be confirmed to the employee in writing within ten working days of being issued. The letter should contain:

- Confirmation that a formal verbal warning has been issued under the Disciplinary policy.
- Brief summary of the reasons why the warning has been issued.
- Brief summary of the meeting in which the warning was issued, including the employee's response to the allegations.
- Confirmation of the standards expected in future.
- Confirmation of the possible consequences of failing to meet the standards expected.
- Confirmation of the how long the warning will remain live, e.g. 6 months from the date issued.
- Confirmation of the right of appeal against the warning, including details of how to do this.
- A copy of the letter confirming the warning should be placed on the employee's personal file to maintain a record of the employee's history.

Formal written/final formal written warnings

Formal written warnings and final formal written warnings must be confirmed in writing; the letter should include:

- The name of the person who took the decision.
- The names of all those present at the hearing, including witnesses.
- A description of the nature of the allegation(s).
- The conclusion reached on the allegation(s).
- The employee's response to the allegations.
- The action taken, including a decision not to take any action. If a warning is given, the letter should stipulate the level of warning.
- Confirmation of the standards expected in future.
- Confirmation of the possible consequences of failing to meet the standards expected.
- Confirmation of the how long the warning will remain live, e.g. 6 months from the date issued.
- Confirmation of the right of appeal against the warning, including details of how to do this.

Two copies of the letter confirming the warning should be issued to the employee; one of these should be signed by the employee and returned to the Principal to be kept on file, to maintain a record of the employee's history.

Dismissal

Dismissal must be confirmed in writing within ten working days of the decision being taken. The letter should contain:

- The name of the person/committee that took the decision.
- The names of all those present at the meeting, including any witnesses called.
- A description of the nature of the allegation(s).
- The conclusion reached on the allegation(s).
- The employee's response to the allegations.
- The decision to dismiss.
- Reason(s) for dismissal including why other sanctions were not appropriate
- When employment will be terminated, along with details of what notice, or pay in lieu of notice, will be paid.
- The right of appeal, along with details of how to appeal.

Appeal hearing outcome

The outcome of an appeal hearing should be confirmed in writing within ten working days of the hearing. The letter should contain:

- The name of the person/committee that heard the appeal and decided the outcome.
- The names of all those present at the meeting, including any witnesses called.
- A description of the grounds for appeal.
- The conclusion reached on the appeal.
- If dismissal, confirmation of the reason(s) for dismissal, when employment will be terminated, along with details of what notice, or pay in lieu of notice, will be paid.
- If a decision to dismiss is over-turned, advice regarding arrangements for return to work etc.
- If upholding a warning, confirm the level of warning, the review date, and what action may follow if there is further misconduct.
- If over-turning a warning, or reducing the level, confirmation of this, and details of the revised warning.
- Advise that there is no further right of appeal.
